OH, YOU PETE:

Remember Ratty Waters who tied the dishpan under Prof. Bunn's car at Princeton? He's more seriously inclined now-sells high grade bonds! Ran smack into Ratty as he was hustling for his a. m. fodder with a Camel cigarette perched between his lips and looking as happy as a turtle on a log! It's a pretty art—this opening up the morning with a Camel!

Well sir, Pete, what Ratty rattled into my rafters would supply Camel selling stuff for a year! "There's nothing to this cigarette game but Camels," said Ratty. "Their mellowness is a revelation and I never did run into such mildness in my life! And, when you figure that Camels have ALL the "body" any smoker wants-well, I just marvel that such a cigarette could be made! Ever get such refreshing flavor? For instance, Ratty spread this:- "Shorty,

I can't stand the usual unpleasant cigaretty aft'rtaste and unpleasant cigaretty odor! Camels are free from both! (100 per cent. O. K., Pete!) And, they never tire my taste! When you pass by Camels you have slipped by your smoke signals!

Tried to get Ratty to put some of that sales talk on paper, but he came back:-"You tell 'em, old kettle-you've got the spoat!

Pete, Camels won Ratty's favor like they've won thousands of others! They'll win any man who gives them a chance!

By unanimous vote of both houses of the United States congress, a bill for the vocational training, or re-education, at government expense, of the wounded or disabled soldiers, sailors and marines of our military forces was passed, and was signed by the president and became a law on June 27, 1918.

When it came to administering this law it was found there were many thousands of disabled American war heroes who could not be cared for with government funds. These included those patriotic American boys who were wounded while fighting for the Allies, for example, as well as those in our own armies who were wounded while technically not in line of duty. This latter class is illustrated by the story that is told about an American aviator with our own army in France who took an airplane out without orders one day and attacked a German plane, and transportation and other walks of education building today.
